

To Whom This May Concern ^{K'NOR LYON}

I am looking for an experienced writer to help me write a book (in english) about the hisayon of technology (internet and smartphones etc.) covering dangers, pitfalls, halachy, hashkafy, chizuk, and more, written in an intelligent, informative, readable, and engaging manner.

I have an outline of the overall structure and content, and I need someone to take the relatively dry and heavy information and give it life, color, and reference, using stories, meskulim, humor, and various literary techniques to transform the various ideas, points, and messages into a well written, thought provoking, and even transformative book.
